

This report is based upon the horticulture analysis in India. In the Analysis, I had visualized the Number of Exports of various crops, the varieties of crops grown in a tropical country like India, the area and production of various crop varieties, and finally the distribution of the production of the horticulture across the globe.

After taking a glance at the viz, the viewer can get an idea about the situation of the horticulture sector based upon the above mentioned factors.

I hope this gives a concise info about what my project is all about and last but not the least, I would like to thank you for the wonderful opportunity
